

Natural Colorants for Dyeing and Lake Pigments

PRACTICAL RECIPES AND THEIR HISTORICAL SOURCES

Jo Kirby, Maarten van Bommel and André Verhecken with Marika Spring, Ina Vanden Berghe, Heike Stege and Mark Richter

in association with

THE NATIONAL GALLERY

Cultural Heritage Agency
Ministry of Education, Culture and Science

DOERNER INSTITUT

CHARISMA

Contents

Foreword	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
1 Introduction	1
Case Study: Dyes in the Brussels tapestry 'Nathan rebukes David' (1530–40)	3
2 Natural dyes and their sources: plants, insect reds and shellfish purple	9
Case Study: Dyes in the textile fragments covering a relic skull (no. 31) from the abbey of Herkenrode, Belgium	10
3 The techniques of dyeing and pigment making with natural colorants: the basic chemistry behind the processes	23
4 Recipes for dyeing	35
4.1 Historical recipes for the dyeing of textiles	35
4.2 Practical recipes for dyeing	48
5 Recipes for making lake pigments from natural dyes	69
5.1 Historical recipes for making lake pigments	70
Case Study: Red lake pigments from textile shearings in a painting from the workshop of Dirk Bouts	74
5.2 Practical recipes for making lake pigments	85
Appendix 1: English and scientific names of some common dyes	109
Appendix 2: A note on methods of analysis	111