

THE
GEOGRAPHICAL IMAGINATION
IN AMERICA, 1880-1950

Susan Schulten

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS
CHICAGO AND LONDON

CONTENTS

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS	vii
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	ix
1. Introduction	1
PART ONE MAKING GEOGRAPHY MODERN	15
2. Maps for the Masses, 1880–1900	17
3. Science, Culture, and Expansionism in the Making of the National Geographic , 1888–1900	45
4. Creating the Science of Geography, 1880–1919	69
5. School Geography, the “Mother of All Sciences,” 1880–1914	92
PART TWO GEOGRAPHY FOR THE AMERICAN CENTURY	119
6. School Geography in the Age of Internationalism, 1914–1950	121
7. Negotiating Success at the National Geographic , 1900–1929	148
8. The Map and the Territory, 1900–1939	176
9. War and the Re-creation of the World, 1939–1950	204
EPILOGUE	239
NOTES	243
BIBLIOGRAPHY	281
INDEX	309